BIG SUNDAY

Big Sunday connects people through helping.

We believe that absolutely everyone has some way that they can help somebody else. That's why we produce or promote more than 2,000 giving-back events annually.

Even better, each year we engage, empower and unite more than 50,000 people of all ages, races, religions, means, sexual orientations and political bents to celebrate what we share, while making the world better for one another.

We hope you can join us. After all, we're all in it together.

"I support Big Sunday because they continue to show me that when we help each other we close the gaps between us, and that act has the power to heal the world.

We need Big Sunday now more than ever before."

"I have been working with Big Sunday for many years and every year we partner I am renewed by their commitment and passion to helping those in need. A testament to that commitment is holding last year's Thanksgiving Stuffing event in the pouring rain with smiles on everyone's faces and the steadfast determination to feed families who were without during the holidays. This is truly an organization that helps people help others. I will always support Big Sunday and I hope we can continue to spread this message and purpose to others for years to come. Ever onward!"

"Hulu is proud to have worked with Big Sunday for the past two years on our largest annual community service event, and we're looking forward to a third year of partnership in 2020. When choosing a partner, it was important for us to find an organization that understands the needs of the community, is able to connect us with groups on a personal level, and a team that can help us live out Hulu's Give Back mission to help the next generation of youth break through. The Big Sunday team's dedication to service is admirable, and they have some of the biggest hearts we've ever seen. Over the past two years, from Big Sunday staff to their volunteer leaders, everyone made sure that our Hulu team understood the impact they were making, felt like they made a difference in their community, and of course, had a great time volunteering. It's an easy decision to support Big Sunday."
