BIG SUNDAY

Big Sunday connects people through helping.

We believe that absolutely everyone has some way that they can help somebody else. That's why we produce or promote more than 2,000 giving-back events annually.

Even better, each year we engage, empower and unite more than 50,000 people of all ages, races, religions, means, sexual orientations and political beliefs to celebrate what we share, while making the world better for one another.

We hope you can join us. After all, we're all in it together.

From G.D., a teacher in Los Angeles, whose school has participated in Big Sunday for many years, after our most recent Thanksgiving event:

I am humbled by Big Sunday's ability to reach a great number of people; your ability to put your great ideas into action; for those ideas to be greatly contagious; and for your ability to effect great change – not only for the thousands of people who needed what your program was able to provide, but to all the people who also worked together to see that they can do good in our world, and that there is so much good in the world.

Thanks for shining a light on all that great goodness.
